A WALK DOWN THE PATH

On: Another Harvest Weekend Memory

Another Harvest weekend has come and gone. Once again, it was a highlight of our church year. The Prayer Chain is always enjoyable. Many participated by volunteering to pray. Every year I hope that new people will join the effort and learn for themselves what a joy it is and how quickly the individual prayer segments pass.

Sunday morning worship featured Amy Bringhurst, who spoke, showed us a skit they use on their Africa trips (utilizing volunteers from our audience), and showed us some slides of the African village culture and the HIV ministry. Our Harvest Offering was terrific, and once again we were all encouraged to make a special sacrifice for the mission of the church worldwide.

Sunday evening, we ate to the full during our seasonal Harvest Feast. Amy spoke more about her experience with the He Intends Victory (HIV) ministry in the African villages. I truly enjoyed hearing her stories and seeing her video images. Several others expressed to me how much they enjoyed her presentations.

It was a great weekend...but for our family it began on Saturday. Amy and her kids arrived on Saturday, so we had a hot dog roast in the backyard fire pit. It was dark by the time the fire was ready, so we gathered around the fire with dogs on roasting sticks and stayed warm while we cooked our suppers.

When supper was finished, the adults sat around the warm fire while eight of the grandkids (from ages 2 through 14) played hide and seek in the yard in the dark. Even the littlest of them ran and hid or looked for those who were hiding. (One two-year-old carried a flashlight and shined it at the other kids who were trying to hide. Not everyone thought that was as entertaining as we adults did!)

Four-year-old Korbin doesn't hide very well... he doesn't stay very quiet, so he gave away the hiding spot that he and older cousin, Katie, were using. Korbin came over to his mom who told him, "Korbin, you have to be quiet when you're hiding." Korbin's response, "Zack keeps saying, 'Hello!'" (To which, Korbin would naturally respond.) April told him, "He's just trying to trick you." (He was successful...more than once.)

Trickery. That's an old and time-tested tactic. In fact, a master of trickery hovers with his minions around us all the time. The name of that trickster is the devil, Satan, Lucifer. 2 Corinthians 11:14-15 says, "For Satan himself is disguised as an angel of light. So it is no great thing if his servants also disguise themselves as servants of righteousness. Their destiny will be according to their works." Jesus called Satan "the father of lies."

While we engage in our regular routines and consider various life options that are presented to us, Satan is busy at work attempting to lure us to his agenda. His agenda is always self-serving. His agenda is always to our peril. Yet, he always presents his agenda in a manner that appeals to us. James 4:7-8 tells us to "resist the devil and he will flee from you." Our recourse, when we hear the alluring voice of God's adversary, is to resist him and yield to God's impulses within us.

Sunday morning, our Harvest Offering presented us with an opportunity to resist Satan's allure to accumulate and guard our wealth, and instead to reflect God's generosity by offering up our wealth for His Kingdom's use. Harvest Weekend provides us with another wonderful memory block in the walls of the temple of our faith. We've put Satan on the run. Let's see how far we can chase him away!

Steve

P.S. Linda and I wish to thank our RHCC family for the wonderful Pastor Appreciation gift that was presented to us in October. The faith, affection, and friendships we all share are cherished deeply in our hearts.

GUEST MUSICIANS

The Pic and Bow will be our guests during Sunday morning worship on December 3. Guitarist Charles David Smart has performed for Rolling Hills Christian Church many times and it is always a great musical experience. He is now joined by Michelle Gawith, and they will share their fun and inspirational music with the church during our 10 a.m. worship service. You won't want to miss this concert! A basket will be available to collect a free will love offering for The Pic and Bow.

YOUTH MINISTRIES

Hey everybody! I hope you are all doing well. I am incredibly glad to be serving here with y'all. This congregation has been a blessing to me in more way than I can count and the gift I received for pastor appreciation was humbling and greatly appreciated. I hope to continue to be a blessing to Rolling Hills as God works through the church and myself to build His Kingdom.

The youth group recently took a trip to the Oasis Youth Conference in Manhattan. We attended sessions that included fantastic worship and incredible messages, but it was God that took the spotlight. I saw amazing growth in every student that went, and I am proud to say that God impacted the trip. There were over 1500 students in attendance. It was amazing to see God work in the masses, and it was just as amazing to see God work in the hearts and minds of the students individually.

The youth group has been showing growth. The students have been growing closer to Christ every time I see them, and I am beyond blessed to get to join them on that journey. I hope to continue to see God build His Kingdom here at Rolling Hills.

We will be continuing with youth group on Sundays and Sunday school. December should be great if we let God shine. Have a blessed day! -Dylan Meyer
