

THE PATHWAY

Our Mission

To worship the Lord Jesus Christ, taking His message of salvation to all peoples and developing the body of believers to maturity in Him. . .

. . .by showing our commitment to one another by declaring fellowship with the Lord and members in this congregation and by encouraging each other through our social interactions in large and small group opportunities.

. . .by meeting together on Sunday as a group to express our praise and adoration to God for the resurrection of Jesus on the first day of the week

. . .by communicating by verbal statement and by personal example of the activity of grace on our behalf which entailed the death, burial, and resurrection of Jesus.

. . .by providing opportunities that encourage each of our members to constantly review their faith and grow in their spiritual walk with God.

A WALK DOWN THE PATH

On: Getting Ready for Harvest

The days of my youth are sometimes only fleeting memories. The more distant they become, the less distinct and less numerous they become. I remember only three or four images of my grandfathers. I have many more recollections of my grandmother. This summer will be my 45 year high school class reunion. About 55 of my classmates and I began kindergarten together. The other 135 joined with us through the years as our town grew. When I have opportunity to visit with my classmates every five years at our reunions, we all reflect on old memories. It never ceases to amaze me the different experiences that are remembered by some but not by others who were involved in the same experiences. So works our memories. We tend to remember those incidents that have particular meaning to us, even though we may not know why they carry their own particular significance.

Some of the experiences I recall from my teenage years are the summers I spent working on nearby farms. I walked soybeans for a couple of summers with a crew of boys for a farmer in our community at Ankeny, Iowa. We worked from 7:00 in the morning until noon. When the bean plants were small, it was quite easy to walk up and down the rows and pulling, hoeing or chopping out the weeds or volunteer corn. As the beans grew waist high, we'd get soaked to the skin from the heavy dew on the plants and have to push our way through the rows to get to the troublesome unwanted weeds that were well rooted and uncooperative with our efforts.

A couple of summers I worked on a hybrid seed farm near Ames, Iowa. Our crew walked those fields all day long, doing weeding and removing of rogue corn stalks. These corn plants had to be monitored carefully because their seed was sold for planting to become popcorn.

All of that work was to help the farmer get ready to have a good harvest. Without proper seed planted and proper care, the rains and sunshine will be unproductive. But with proper preparation, the farmer looks forward to a prosperous and satisfying harvest.

We have a Harvest event every year here at Rolling Hills. On Sunday morning, November 23, we will be receiving an offering to assist with our mission support. Elsewhere in this newsletter is some additional information about the November 22, 23 Harvest Weekend events and plans. We will also be mailing a letter with further explanation. We can all look with anticipation to an enjoyable weekend of events which include the Saturday prayer chain, the Sunday morning worship and offering, and the Sunday evening Harvest Feast. David Smart will be with us once again to help us celebrate God's generosity in our lives.

For our Harvest Weekend to be productive and satisfying we all will need to do our proper preparation. Plant your seed of faith involvement by praying now about how you can be ready. Remove the weeds that may prevent your generosity from growing into a wonderful healthy gift. Water your plants of faith by joining in the prayer chain. And enjoy reaping the Harvest at our celebration feast.

A good Harvest doesn't happen by accident. All the workers make it happen when they pool their resources and cooperate together for the common purpose. Put on your work shoes and come join us in the field.

Steve
